THE WALKING DEAD ADDS IRONE SINGLETON TO THE CAST

IronE Singleton

Award nomination for 'Best Picture' in January, thanks to his contribution opposite Sandra Bullock as the menacing thug 'Alton.'

Immediately following the Oscars, IronE went to work on another feature called "The Hungry Rabbit Jumps" as the character 'Scar,' alongside Guy Pearce and Oscar Winner, Nicolas Cage.

Also, he will appear in the upcoming feature, "The Lottery Ticket," opposite Bow Wow and Ice Cube which is scheduled to hit theaters August 20, 2010.

IronE is repped by H&W Talent Management and Houghton Talent Agency (Southeast Agent).

What a week it has been with casting news for AMC's "The Walking Dead." Linda Edwards (Seed), Jim Coleman (American Gangster), and eleven-year old Chandler Riggs (Get Low) have been confirmed for the highly anticipated TV series. Now, IronE Singleton (The Blind Side) has been added to the cast as T-Dog, one of the survivors amongst the zombies. Currently in production in Atlanta (GA), "The Walking Dead" is scheduled to air in October 2010. Based on Robert Kirkman's comic, Frank Darabont is the writer, director, and executive producer for the one-hour TV series. Gale Anne Hurd and Dave Alpert also are executive producing.

IronE Singleton has been busy in 2010. Most recently, he has worked on several major network pilots, including VH1's "Single Ladies," TNT's "Detroit 187," and ABC's "Franklin and Bash" all scheduled for release in this year's fall lineup.

Singleton is not only limited to TV as we saw in one of 2009's top box office hits, "The Blind Side," which received an 2010 Academy
